TOPIC 10.5: Teacher professionalism

Day of visit Wednesday

Date of visit 7th October 2026

Activity 10.5.1

SRJ Task: Observation and recording (audio/video) of some teachers' behaviours, attitudes, knowledge and practices in the classroom and the wider school life

Comments on diverse behaviours of teachers you observed

I observed that some teachers were kind and patient with learners, while others were strict in keeping the class in order. Some of the teachers allowed learners to ask questions and take part in lessons. I also noticed that teachers used different ways to explain lessons, I learnt that a good teacher should be patient, kind and able to control the class.

What were your challenges during activity 10.5.1?

My main challenges were getting learners to pay attention, controlling noise and encouraging everyone to participate in the activities. Some learners found it difficult to concentrate, which made it challenging to keep the class focused

Activity 10.5.2:

Playback of recorded and online audios/videos of expected behaviours, attitudes, knowledge and practices of a professional teacher

State at least three (3) acceptable teacher qualities that were not identified in activity 7.5.2

Honesty and Integrity
Punctuality
fairness to all learners

In your opinion, how would an unacceptable behaviour observed from the playback influence the teachers' work?

Unacceptable behaviour can make learners lose respect for their teacher and this can affect their interest in learning. Also, it can create fear, reduce learners participation and make classroom management difficult.

Activity 10.5.3: Hold reflective/feedback sessions to consolidate understanding of teacher professionalism

Identify several professional traits you found interesting which you will focus on in your professional practices and give reasons.

The professional traits i found interesting and would like to focus on are patience, punctuality, fairness, compassion, and good communication skills. I want to be patient because learners have different abilities and learn at different speeds. Punctuality will help me manage my time and serve as good example to learners. Fairness will help me treat all learners equally without favouritism. Compassion will help me understand learners challenges, while good communication skills will help me explain lessons clearly and build good relationships with learners.

TOPIC 10.6: Development of professional teaching Portfolio

Day of visit Friday

Date of visit 9th October 2026

Activity 10.6.1

SRJ Task: Discussion and review of personal teaching philosophy with tutors, mentors and STS partner

Record your reviewed personal teaching philosophy statement taking a clue from the discussions you have had with your STS partner and mentor on beliefs and values in teaching and learning.

I believe every child is special and has the ability to learn. I believe in differentiated teaching because learners have different abilities, needs and ways of understanding things. As a teacher, I want to give every learner the support they need to learn. I also believe in treating all learners equally, being patient and respecting their differences. My goal is to create a friendly classroom where every learner feels accepted, valued and encouraged to do their best.

Identify the similarities and differences between your Year One and reviewed personal teaching philosophy statements and give reasons for the differences.

Both my Year One and reviewed teaching philosophy statements show that I believe every child can learn and deserves care, patience and support. The difference is that my Year One statement was mainly observations and general beliefs about teaching, while my reviewed statement focuses more on differentiated learning. This is because my STS experience has helped me understand that learners have different needs and abilities, so they should be taught in ways that help them learn better.

Activity 10.6.2

Development of a template for professional teaching portfolio (consider inclusivity and diversity)

Record what you shared with your STS partner and mentor regarding the importance of developing a template for professional teaching portfolio.
